Repeal, Sir, the Act which gave rise to this disturbance; this will be the remedy to bring peace and quietness and restore authority; but a great black book and a great many red coats will never be able to govern it. It is true, the Americans cannot resist the force of this country, but it will cause wranglings, scuffling and discontent. Such remedies as the foregoing will create disturbances that can never be quieted.

—Edmund Burke, Debate in the Commons on bill regulating the government of Massachusetts Bay, May 2, 1774

Preface

> The most important part of history is really a series of problems.... The way to penetrate beneath the petty superficialities and come to grips with historical realities is to propound one incisive question after another, until the past ceases to look like a smooth record and becomes instead a rough and puzzling set of difficulties.

The Hull men and women who served in the Revolutionary War have been my constant companions for ten long years. I originally began studying Revolutionary War records seeking better proof of my own Hull ancestor's service. Although both the DAR and SAR had accepted my fourth great grandfather, Samuel Hull,* as a patriot, I felt uneasy about the proofs which had been used and found myself asking questions which seemed to have no clear answers. Since I was in the process of compiling a book on Samuel's ancestors and descendants, I decided to further document and verify his service. This search became a major challenge when I found at least forty Samuel Hulls who had served in the war from seven of the thirteen defiant British colonies. Most were eliminated because the areas in which they had served and lived did not correspond to those for my ancestor. Others were more difficult to identify and to finally rule out. My original plan and goal, therefore, met with little success, as I cannot state with any degree of certainty that my Samuel Hull did serve in the Revolutionary War. Although he has been credited with service in Dunmore's War in 1774,† I cannot even be certain that the Samuel Hull who is listed on the Romney, Virginia payroll for this war is my ancestor; it is possible, but far from resolved in my own mind.

As I searched, I became absorbed in studying the various Revolutionary War records and noting the many Hulls who participated. I began making lists of these men and women, planning at some point to publish these lists in a genealogical journal, including perhaps only their rank and place of service. It was not long, however, before I felt it would be interesting to try to identify each of these people, and then to research both their wives and children as well as the Hull women who married men who served in the Revolutionary War. It would have been easier to omit this last group of women, but given my sensitivity to such historical exclusions, I felt compelled to give some visibility to these women and their role in the struggle for liberty. Perhaps the words of Abigail Adams echoed in my mind: "Remember the ladies and be more generous and favourable to them than [were] your ancestors."

Little did I know that compiling this book would take me down a long road of investigating documents in archives, courthouses, and libraries all over the country for more than ten years. As with all genealogical research, there is no completion point, but I trust that the information provided here will be of help to others.

My search precipitated many complex and puzzling problems, as I began to see numerous errors in both primary and secondary sources. It has taken uncounted hours, days, and months to solve some of these problems and many remain unresolved. Nevertheless, the days of frustration and disappointment were equalled by days of elation with each new discovery and verification.

Agreeing completely with historian Barbara Tuchman that "research is endlessly seductive but writing is hard work," would I undertake such a massive project again? Perhaps not, but my love for research and analysis is in no way diminished, nor is my fascination for exploring out-of-the-way and often overlooked sources and repositories. I am grateful to everyone who has helped me along that sometimes difficult path and I fervently hope that the reader will feel this book has provided significant new information, corrected some of the timeworn inaccuracies and fables, and documented the Revolutionary War years of our Hull ancestors. If so, then my efforts are greatly rewarded.

Acknowledgments

Compiling a book such as this can be a formidable task. Knowing where and when to end it can be even more difficult. There were many who helped and stood by me during the long process. Several correspondents and fellow genealogists who contributed to this compilation have become friends and have been supportive of my work and efforts to publish my findings.

I am very grateful to the people, listed below, who sent information and references on their Hull Revolutionary War ancestors. I especially wish to thank those who contributed their theories and the results of their research in regard to some of the unidentified Revolutionary War Hulls as well as those who provided constructive ideas and valuable editorial suggestions, which have resulted in a significant improvement to this compilation.

I extend my sincere thanks and appreciation to the following people: Eleanor Francisco Arens, Capt. Steven E. Barta, Sandi Shipps Beernink, Claudia Myers Bell, Berta-Mae Blackmur, Dave Boatman, Luella Hull Brock, Cindy Hull Bruner, Marilyn Chang, Robert Young Clay, Charles H. Crookston, Beth J. Crow, Lincoln Diamant, Frances Dittmann, Janie Ruth Hull Dyer, Martha Egelston, Robert A. Fetters, Patricia Hull Fulton, Phoebe-Jane Garland, Wallace E. Gears, Chula Griffin, Margaret Ohler Hill, Alexander B. Hull, Allan F. Hull, Donald H. Hull Jr., Edwin C. Hull, Gordon C. Hull, Harvey C. Hull, James Reynolds Hull, Joseph F. Hull, Judith M. Hull, Lewis W. Hull, Robert Edwin Hull, Robert Eugene Hull, Col. (Ret.) Robert and Frankalee Hull, Robert Williams Hull, Gay Nichols-Hydrick, Carol Jaech, Bette Hanlon Jenkins, Thomas W. Jones, Bettie L. Jordan, Barbara C. Kager, Lorraine Kasica, Von D. Kays, William E. Lind, Almyrta Long, Dick Marquette, Irma P. Shelby, Marion "Mimi" Stang, Arvis N. Steimel, Jean G. Sweningsen, Beverley J. Tate, Ralph A. Taylor, Robert Hull Taylor, Ruth Fowler Tee, Cora P. Teel, Myrtle Hull Traxler, Doris Martin Walker, Mildred Wickson, Bill B. Yeager, and the members of my Boulder genealogy study group.

I also wish to express my thanks to the following libraries and archives for providing the books and records which contributed to my research on this project: Boulder Genealogical Society Collection, Carnegie Library; Norlin Library, University of Colorado; Denver Public Library; National Archives Center, Denver branch; Penrose Public Library, Colorado Springs; LDS Branch Family History Libraries, Louisville and Longmont, Colorado; LDS Family History Library, Salt Lake City; Daughters of the American Revolution Library, Washington, D.C.; Library of Congress, Washington, D.C.; National Archives, Washington, D.C.; Virginia State Library and Archives, Richmond; Kentucky Historical Society Library, Frankfort; Sons of the American Revolution Library, Louisville, Kentucky; New Jersey Historical Society Library, Newark; The Historical Society of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia; Pennsylvania State Archives, Harrisburg; Public Library of Ft. My editor, Barbara J. Knight Cruchon, deserves distinct recognition for her constructive ideas, for her expertise in the realm of Hull research, and for her encouragement and enthusiastic support of this project. Her astute observations and critiques and never-ceasing attention to every detail of this book exceeded all of my expectations. My typist, Ruth Ratliff, also contributed significantly in several of these areas. James Jeffrey and the excellent staff in the genealogy division of the Denver Public Library were especially helpful during my weekly visits to that institution.

My sons have been a constant source of support: Mark David Hughes, for his editing and formatting skills, adept proofreading, and composition suggestions; and Richard W. Hughes II for helping me to overcome my aversion to learning the intricacies of using a computer and for many other helpful recommendations.

And finally I wish to thank my husband and friend, Bob Hughes, for his counsel, encouragement, patience and humor displayed throughout this long project. He never failed to listen during the difficult times, to offer valued ideas, and to provide the love and support which enabled me to complete this undertaking.

I would like to give particular recognition to the following authors whose books contained excellent bibliographies of Revolutionary War references and additional source material:

Hulls in the American Revolution

It will not be believed that such a force as Great Britain has employed...could be baffled...by numbers infinitely less, composed of men oftentime half-starved, always in rags, without pay, and experiencing every species of distress which human nature is capable of undergoing.

—General George Washington, Commander of the Continental Army

Wm Hull

When we left the Highlands, my company consisted of about fifty, rank and file. I found that there was not more than one poor blanket to two men; many of them had neither shoes nor stockings; and those who had, found them nearly worn out. All the clothing was of the same wretched description.

These troops had been about a year in service, and their pay was still due them; yet their privations and trials were only equalled by their patience. In a noble spirit of patriotism, they served their country in her greatest need, without compensation, and almost without the hope of more prosperous days. In the attacks at Trenton and Princeton we were in this destitute situation, and continued to sleep on the frozen ground, without covering, until the 7th of January when we arrived at Morristown, N.J., where General Washington established his winter quarters. The patient endurance of the army at this period, is perhaps unexampled in this or any other country.

—Major William Hull, 8th Massachusetts Line, 1777, from his manuscript notes, describing his Revolutionary War service

Introduction

The following compilation is believed to be the most comprehensive study thus far assembled of men of the Hull surname who participated in the Revolutionary War.* Also included are Hull Loyalists and Hull women married to Revolutionary War men as well as a number of veterans and patriots of the Holl, Hohl, Hole, and Huls/Hulls surname, since these variant surnames were occasionally anglicized to the Hull spelling. This study contains over 600 entries of information on Hull Revolutionary War men, including those who remained loyal to the British Crown. These men served from twelve of the thirteen colonies which revolted against British rule: Massachusetts, Connecticut, New Hampshire, Rhode Island, New York, New Jersey, Maryland, Delaware, Pennsylvania, Virginia, North Carolina, and South Carolina. Only in Georgia were no Hull service nor pension files found; exceptions to this occur among the Loyalists and Hull women married to Revolutionary War men.

As indicated on the title page, this compilation is above all a source book, since nearly 1,200 direct references are cited. These sources range from the original service, pension, and bounty land warrant application records in the National Archives to various state troop and county and town militia lists. A wide collection of published Revolutionary War references, DAR and SAR records, Hull genealogies, county histories and biographical compendiums have also been consulted. In addition to the various primary sources used, over 2,000 Hull biographies and approximately 1,700 genealogies containing data on Hull families and pedigrees were collected and researched in order to establish the lineages of the Revolutionary War Hulls.

Although it does contain genealogical information, this compilation is in no terms a genealogy, nor is it meant to be. Due to space limitations, the vital statistics for these men and women are somewhat abbreviated; however, exact sources are cited in every entry to enable the researcher to gather more complete data and additional records on each person.

I have attempted to identify as many of the Hull Revolutionary War veterans and patriots as possible, linking them to their immigrant ancestors. The families fall into six broad categories:

- New England Hulls listed in Col. Charles H. Weygant's 1913 genealogy, The Hull Family in America (HFA): descendants of the three early English immigrants, Richard, George, and the Reverend Joseph Hull who was a brother of George. This genealogy also includes the New Hampshire Hull branch, whose immigrant ancestor is unknown but possibly from an English line.
- Northumberland County, Virginia Hulls listed in John W. Herndon's 1948 manuscript, "The Hull Family of Northumberland & Spotsylvania Counties, Virginia...": descendants of John Hull, thought to have been an early English immigrant.
- Isaac Hull, 1663 immigrant line, thought to be an English branch possibly related to the above George and Reverend Joseph Hull line.
- Augusta County, Virginia Hulls listed in Moody Hull's 1942 manuscript, "Hull Family": descendants of the German immigrant, Peter Thomas Hull/Holl/Hohl Sr.
- Miscellaneous other German, Dutch, and Swiss Hull branches found principally in Pennsylvania.
- Hulls of African ancestry (referred to in the text as Black).

* This compilation includes men and women who perfotmed non-military patriotic service as established by the Daughters of the American Revolution and the Sons of the American Revolution. A list of qualifying patriotic service categories may be found in the Glossary section of the Appendix under Non-Military Patriots.

Identifications for individuals in the first, second, and fourth categories are designated herein, incorporating the existing numbering systems contained in the respective Hull genealogies.† My intention is not to create a new identification system; rather this compilation is designed to be used in conjunction with those genealogies. While not every researcher will have direct access to these important sources, the genealogies in the above first three categories are available at several of the major libraries and may also be obtained on microfilm through interlibrary loan from the Family History Library, Salt Lake City (see Part I, How to Use the Entries, #12, on page 4 for further information). Additionally, The Hull Family in America, 1913, may presently be purchased from The Hull Family Association, P.O. Box 2066, Merrifield, VA 22116-2066. In future years, please consult The Hull Family Association publications in major libraries for a current address.

My identifications may occasionally vary from other published records and from the findings of earlier researchers. I have noted these differences and documented the theories and analyses of these sometimes quite complex placements and relationships. Although many identifications have been made, there are still a significant number of Revolutionary War Hulls whose exact origins are not yet determined. These unidentified Hulls are indicated by the abbreviation "UN" in the text. I welcome any additional information regarding the correct placement of these unidentified Hulls.

In the listings which follow, there may be two or more entries for Hulls with the same given name, serving from the same colony. It must be assumed that some of the duplicate names are, in fact, the same man, since many men served two, three, and even four terms and were, therefore, listed more than once in the various service rosters. When there was no resource by which to determine a positive identification, such as a wife's name or a birth or death date, a separate entry is included for each item of information relative to the veteran of that name. In such cases where a man could be identical to one of the previously cited Hulls with the same given name, and serving from the same colony/state, the entry is marked with an asterisk (*).

Since both the DAR and SAR organizations have, in the past, accepted service for certain soldiers who participated in Dunmore's War (1774), all Hull men who served in this conflict have been included. Dunmore's War, however, is considered by Virginia historians to be a colonial war and service in this war is normally not regarded as Revolutionary War service.

This work cannot be considered a definitive compilation of all the Hulls who served in the Revolutionary War, since there are certainly those whose records have not yet been found. It is recommended that the reader consult the numerous references listed in Part VI in order to obtain additional information on any given man. It is also vital to investigate both the index to the compiled service records and the records themselves, as well as the pension and the bounty land warrant files, since these documents contain detailed accounts of the Revolutionary War service for the Hull men who appear in these records. These files are housed at the National Archives in Washington, D.C. or at any of the eleven regional archive branches.

Great care has been taken to consult every reference that might furnish the correct information; yet, considering the broad range of sources used in a work of this scope, omissions or errors are unavoidable. The researcher is urged to exercise caution regarding the information from the secondary sources and to examine the original records whenever possible. The decision to use secondary sources was based on a desire to inform the reader of all references found on a particular man. At the same time, the errors or possible inaccuracies which exist in several of these transcribed references are noted. It is my sincere hope that those who descend from these Revolutionary War Hull men and women will undertake the additional research necessary to seek out the references cited herein, in order to fully document their given service and data.

I will greatly appreciate receiving notice of any corrections or additions to the present work, together with the appropriate documentation.

Duration of the Revolutionary War 1775–1783

The American Revolution was initially an armed demonstration to protest the treatment being accorded by the British government to certain of her colonies. It gradually broadened to civil war all along the seaboard. The first clash came at Lexington, Massachusetts, April 19, 1775, and was quickly followed by the assembling of a Continental Congress which created an intercolonial force, the Continental Army, and chose George Washington as commander-in-chief. Despite continuing efforts to reach a settlement, relations between Great Britain and the colonies grew worse, and in July 1776, the delegates in Congress agreed to declare independence. Some persons, even among those who had been active in the early phases of the struggle, drew back from this unforeseen development which changed resistance into full-fledged revolution. These and other Americans who declined to support the Revolutionary leaders became known as Tories or Loyalists.

The great victory at Saratoga, New York, brought to the erstwhile colonies full alliance with France and material aid from Spain and the Netherlands, and at the same time gave to the war new international aspects. The climax, but not the end, came with the surrender of a large British force at Yorktown, Virginia in October 1781. The last bloody encounter between regular British and American troops occurred in November of the next year, and Congress proclaimed the war at an end on April 11, 1783. Yet a band of Loyalist guerrillas remained active in Pennsylvania until June 1784, and the British continued until June 1796 to hold Detroit, with the result that for well over a decade after the formal close of the war, Indian allies of the British continued sporadic attacks.

Hull Men
in the American Revolution

And those who came were resolved to be Englishmen
Gone to the World's end, but English every one,
And they ate the white corn-kernels, parched in the sun
And they knew it not, but they'd not be English again.

—Stephen Vincent Benét, Western Star

Was it not ridiculous to suppose that a handful of colonials could successfully oppose the most powerful empire on the globe? Was it not absurd to think that thirteen independent colonies could be welded together into a single nation? And was it not downright frightening to contemplate rule not by the statesmen who had ruled so well in the past, but by firebrands and demagogues who were preaching doctrines of democracy and equality?

—Henry Steele Commager and Richard B. Morris
The Spirit of 'Seventy-Six, The Story of the American Revolution as Told by Participants

PART I

HULL MEN IN THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION

The entries in Part I contain the names of approximately 636 Hull men who served in the War of Independence, either as military men or as those who contributed patriotic service. These men served from twelve of the thirteen colonies which subsequently formed the United States; only Georgia is not represented. These entries contain some duplication of names, as it was not always possible to distinguish and identify men of the same given names, serving from the same colony.

HOW TO USE THE ENTRIES IN PART I

The following information, when known, is listed in this order for each man:

(1) name of veteran/patriot Alphabetized by given name, then listed geographically by state/colony, and then by birth year (when known). States/colonies are listed in the following, loosely geographical, order: CT, MA, NH, RI, NY, NJ, MD, DE, PA, VA, NC, SC. A name preceded by an asterisk (*) indicates that this Hull could be the same as one previously cited with the same given name serving from the same state/colony. Further comments regarding this possibility or probability are based upon circumstantial, but not conclusive, evidence.

(2) birth year If more than one date is found in one or more records, the alternate date is given in parentheses. Generally, the first date given is the more likely to be correct.

(3) death year See information in #2 above.

(4) names of parents Parents' names are normally given following the death year, except when the veteran is known to be an HFA descendant but has no HFA identification number; in these latter cases the parents' names appear in the identification category (#12 below).

(5) name(s) of wife/wives and marriage year(s) See information in #2 above with regard to dates, and Part III, Wives of Hulls in the American Revolution. When a woman was previously married, her maiden name appears within parentheses; when known, her former husband's surname also appears, e.g., Mrs. Hannah (Van Wyck) Field. When a maiden name might be mistaken for a middle name, the maiden name appears within parentheses, e.g., Nancy (Rose).

(6) rank(s) or patriotic service When no rank is given, it can be assumed that, in most cases, the man served as a private.

(7) colony/state(s) from which veteran served or in which patriot resided Appears in boldface. Service in the Continental Army also appears in boldface when no colony/state of service is shown. In the case of a veteran, the colony/state usually denotes his unit's originating location and may, in rare cases, denote the place(s) where this unit might have participated in military service.

(8) military unit(s), along with commanding officers and year(s) Unit refers to company, regiment, battalion, division, brigade, militia, etc.

(9) year(s) of enlistment and/or service and/or discharge

(10) widow (W); and/or survivors' (S) pension application file number(s); and/or application rejected (R) file number(s); and/or bounty land warrant (BLWt) file number(s) BLWt file numbers indicate, separated by hyphens, (1) the warrant number, (2) the number of acres granted, and (3) the last two digits of the year of the act under which the warrant was awarded.

(11) residence(s), both before and after service

(12) identification Most identifications are based on three existing Hull genealogies, listed below. The individual numbering systems used in these genealogies are followed in this compilation, with the addition of code letters as shown:

◆ The Hull Family in America, Col. Charles H. Weygant, 1913 [Ref. 1E] (LDS Family History Library Microfilm #0564396, Item 1); numbers based on this reference appear as follows:

HFA #-Geo. (George) Hull line
HFA #-Rev. Joseph Hull line
HFA #-Richard Hull line
HFA #-NH (New Hampshire) Hull line

In cases where a descendant of an HFA individual does not appear in HFA, and therefore has no HFA number, his closest ancestor's HFA number is given. Examples:

Hull, Zephaniah/Ziphon – S/o of Moses Hull and Mary Ives, HFA #263-Richard Hull line
Hull, Daniel Jr. – Probable grandson of Nathaniel Hull and Elizabeth Griswold, HFA #44-Geo. Hull line; s/o Daniel Hull Sr. and Susannah Bull

◆ "Hull Family," Moody Hull, 1942 manuscript [Ref. 5P] (LDS Family History Library Microfilm #0854149, Item 3); numbers based on this reference appear as follows:

#-P – German Peter Thomas Hull/Holl/Hohl Sr. line

◆ "The Hull Family of Northumberland & Spotsylvania Counties, Virginia...," John W. Herndon, 1948 manuscript [Ref. 3R] (LDS Family History Library Microfilm #0000757); numbers based on this reference appear as follows:

#-N – Northumberland Co., VA line

Other identification codes used are listed below. No comprehensive numbering systems for these lines exist at this time.

D/G line – Dutch/German line
G/D/S line – German/Dutch/Swiss line
G/S line – German/Swiss line
UN – unidentified Hull line; indicates that this man's lineage back to his immigrant ancestor has not yet been determined

(13) additional information on children (AIC) Refers the reader to Part IV, Selected Children of Hulls in the American Revolution. Names of the children of these men, when identified, are listed in Part IV only in cases where:

- the Hull veteran/patriot is unidentified (UN) or
- the children were not listed in The Hull Family in America (HFA) or
- the children have differing or additional data from that published in HFA.

Part IV also includes children from the Northumberland County, Virginia branch, the 1663 immigrant Isaac Hull branch, the German Peter Thomas Hull/Holl/Hohl Augusta County, Virginia line, several other German, Swiss, or Dutch branches, and the Hull men of African ancestry.

(14) See also* directive When an entry states See also, an additional name or names follow, along with the respective colony/state (and county, in rare cases) from which the veteran served. For further identification in some instances, the birth years have been inserted preceding the colony/state from which the veteran served (not necessarily his birthplace). In most cases, these additional names apply to other Hulls serving in the same company as the veteran of the original entry; this could indicate a blood relationship between or among these Hulls.

(15) reference code(s) The bracketed number–capital letter codes following the entries are the key to the bibliographical sources found in Part VI, References. These codes may also pertain to the men's wives and/or children.

(16) remarks/notes The placement of this item may vary from entry to entry depending on the nature of the remark or note.

SPECIAL NOTES

Underlined given names indicate the names by which the persons were commonly known.

Spelling of Surnames Because of the difficulty in reading the various handwritings in some of the Revolutionary War original service and pension records, it is possible that some of the Hulls listed in this compilation might in fact bear the surname Hall or Hill. The spellings of all other names are included as they appear in the original record or consulted reference and may not necessarily be correct or consistent; this is true particularly in the case of the named officers appearing in many of these entries. For further information on these officers consult the following references:

Hull line, Aaron Hull to have married Abigail Whitlock, to have had several children, and to have served in the Revolutionary War. Furthermore, the Aaron Hull who m. Abigail Whitlock was b. 1751, two years after the death of the supposed father, Nathaniel Hull, HFA #61-Geo. Hull line. Detailed correspondence with Caroline Sloan Nielsen, who provided copies of the Aaron Hull–Abigail Whitlock Bible record [Ref. 28P], the 1848 letter of John Jabez Hull [Ref. 28Q], and the 1851–52 letters from the Aaron Hull Jr. family to the Stephen Hull [son of Peter Hull, HFA #405-Geo. Hull, Nathaniel – NY. General Remarks: There were at least three Nathaniel Hulls who lived in Ulster Co., NY and who were of the right age to have served in the Revolutionary War: (1) Nathaniel Hull Sr., HFA #164-Geo. Hull line, (2) Nathaniel Hull Jr., HFA #408-Geo. Hull line, (son of Nathaniel Sr., HFA #164-Geo. Hull line), and (3) an unidentified Nathaniel Hull, b. ca. 1755–65, who left an 1803 will in Ulster Co., naming a wife Sarah (Conklin [Ref. 15J]) Hull and ch. Abraham, Nathaniel, Thomas Carpenter, Unice Dayton, Johannah Carpenter, Abigail Carpenter, Anna, Elizabeth, Lucretia, Lucy, and Juliana. After intensive research and study of this problem and extended correspondence with Eleanor Francisco Arens, it appears that Nathaniel Hull Sr. contributed patriotic service and that Nathaniel Hull Jr. was probably the individual who contributed most, if not all, of the military service. This is based on strong circumstantial evidence and has not been completely documented as yet. It is also important to note that the third above-mentioned Nathaniel Hull may not have resided in Ulster Co. during the Rev. War period, as the first positive record found for him there is his appearance on the 1790 U.S. Census. There is still considerable question as to which Nathaniel Hull appears on the Exempt roster in the company of Capt. Jacob Wood on 13 Aug 1777.

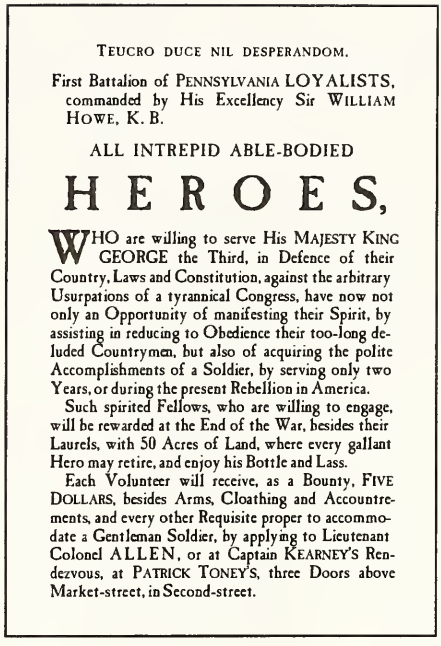
Poss. PA or poss. VA. (Note: Service is not verified; descendants report that this Uriah Hull received a VA [now WV] land warrant for his Rev. War svc. However, well-respected VA authorities state that land claimed inside VA was not claimed on a military bounty warrant [Refs. 6T, 6U, 33R], and that Uriah Hull was not issued a Revolutionary War bounty warrant [Ref. 33R], which prob. disproves Rev. War svc. for this man.) Res.: poss. NJ; Harrison Co., VA (now WV); poss. Fayette Co., PA; poss. Perry Co., OH; Licking Co., OH. HFA #804d-Rev. Hull, Wager – b. 1749; d. 1776; s/o Capt. John Hull and Damaris Cary; m. Mary Martin, 1769. Patriotic Service, RI. Sustained losses by British destruction of his dwelling house, 1775; British marines, under orders from Admiral Wallace, burned house; wife's father, Wm. Martin, was killed. Hull, Wakeman – bap. 1759; d. 1833; s/o Stephen Hull and Hannah Elizabeth Wakeman; m. (1) Rhoda Whitlock (Note: This marriage is not verified but appears in HFA. Jacobus [Ref. 2K, p. 510] does not list the marriage to Rhoda Whitlock for this Wakeman Hull in his account of this family and no further records have been found on Rhoda Whitlock. Peter Whitlock, Genealogist of the Whitlock Family Association, concludes that Rhoda was likely not a Whitlock. It is remotely possible that the Wakeman Hull, who m. Rhoda Whitlock and had six children as given in HFA [Ref. 1E, p.66], is another Wakeman Hull, but this is yet to be proven.); m. (2) Deborah Grumman, 1794; m. (3) Mrs. Esther (Varnell) Carr, 1822. AIC: Esther, Wm., Ephraim. (Note: It has now been verified by the Aaron Hull Sr.–Abigail Whitlock Bible record [Ref. 28P] and the 1848 letter from John Jabez Hull [Ref. 28Q] that the son, HFA #1006-Geo. Hull line, William Hull, b. 14 Mar 1776, who m. Ruth Collins and given by HFA to the Wakeman Hull of this entry, is in reality the son of Aaron Hull Sr. and Abigail Whitlock. It has also been quite conclusively verified by Charles H. Crookston, Genealogist, that the son, HFA #1009 John Jabez Hull, who m. WAKEMAN HULL: POWER OF ATTORNEY DOCUMENT
FROM FINAL PENSION PAYMENT FILE
[NATIONAL ARCHIVES, WASHINGTON, D.C.]

Part II

Hull Loyalists

Those Who Remained
Loyal to the British Crown



TEUCRO DUCE NIL DESPERANDOM.

First Battalion of PENNSYLVANIA LOYALISTS, commanded by His Excellency Sir WILLIAM HOWE, K. B.

ALL INTREPID ABLE-BODIED

HEROES,

WHO are willing to serve His MAJESTY KING GEORGE the Third, in Defence of their Country, Laws and Constitution, against the arbitrary Usurpations of a tyrannical Congress, have now not only an Opportunity of manifesting their Spirit, by assisting in reducing to Obedience their too-long deluded Countrymen, but also of acquiring the polite Accomplishments of a Soldier, by serving only two Years, or during the present Rebellion in America.

Such spirited Fellows, who are willing to engage, will be rewarded at the End of the War, besides their Laurels, with 50 Acres of Land, where every gallant Hero may retire, and enjoy his Bottle and Lass.

Each Volunteer will receive, as a Bounty, FIVE DOLLARS, besides Arms, Cloathing and Accountrements, and every other Requisite proper to accommodate a Gentleman Soldier, by applying to Lieutenant Colonel ALLEN, or at Captain KEARNEY'S Rendezvous, at PATRICK TONEY'S, three Doors above Market-street, in Second-street.

My ancestors were among the first Englishmen who settled in America. I have no interest but in America. I have not a relation out of it that I know of. Yet, let me die! but I had rather be reduced to the last shilling, than that the imperial dignity of Great Britain should sink, or be controlled, by any people or power on earth.

—The Reverend Samuel Seabury, Tory Minister
A View of the Controversy

PART II

HULL LOYALISTS

THOSE WHO REMAINED LOYAL TO THE BRITISH CROWN

The entries in Part II contain the names of sixteen Hull Loyalists. The format for the listing in Part II is identical to that of Part I, found on page 3.

B

Hull, Benjamin Sr. – b. 1726; d. ca. 1782; s/o Joseph Hull and Lydia Blakeslee; m. Amy/Ame Hill, 1746. Not a Loyalist by choice, having been impressed in British Army. (Note: Letter, ca. 1905, from great grandson, Alanson Hull [HFA #641], states that his "great grandfather, Benjamin Hull, and one of his sons were forced into the British Army and never heard from." Wives of Hulls in the American Revolution

WETHERSFIELD GIRLS WEEDING ONIONS, 1780
[COLLECTION OF WETHERSFIELD HISTORICAL SOCIETY]

Almost half of the Revolutionary generation was female. Fine ladies, servant girls, black slave women, middle-class matrons, and native American women all contributed to the development of American life. They may be invisible in history books but they were present everywhere that men were.

—Linda Grant De Pauw, Founding Mothers, Women of America in the Revolutionary Era

If perticuliar care and attention is not paid to the Laidies we are determined to foment a Rebelion, and will not hold ourselves bound by any Laws in which we have no voice, or Representation.

—Abigail Adams, letter to John Adams, March 31, 1776

PART III

WIVES OF HULLS IN THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION

The entries in Part III contain the names and data of approximately 223 wives of the Hull Revolutionary War veterans, patriots, and loyalists.

HOW TO USE THE ENTRIES IN PART III

The following information, when known, is listed in this order for each wife of the Hull Revolutionary War veteran, patriot, or loyalist:

(1) name of wife When a woman was previously married, her maiden name appears within parentheses; when known, her former husband's surname also appears, e.g., Mrs. Hannah (Van Wyck) Field. Note: When the wife was previously married, she is listed under her maiden name and also under her former husband's name. When she married again after her Hull marriage, she is also listed under that husband's name. Also included in this section are two women who received pensions for the Revolutionary War service of their first husband (not a Hull) and who married secondly a Hull man who did not serve. They are listed here to explain why they appear under the Hull name in the pension records (Refs. 1A, 1G).

(2) birth year If more than one date is found in one or more records, the alternate date is given in parentheses. Generally, the first date given is the more likely to be correct.

(3) death year See information in #2 above.

(4) name(s) of parents

(5) name(s) of previous/subsequent husband(s) and marriage year(s) See information in #2 above with regard to dates.

(6) name(s) of Hull husband(s) and marriage year(s) See information in #2 above with regard to dates.

(7) colony/state from which husband served or in which he lived Appears in boldface. Note: The state does not refer to the place of marriage, even though it follows this information.

(8) husband's identification Most identifications are based on three existing Hull genealogies, listed below. The individual numbering systems used in these genealogies are followed in this compilation, with the addition of code letters as shown:

◆ The Hull Family in America, Col. Charles H. Weygant, 1913 [Ref. 1E] (LDS Family History Library Microfilm #0564396, Item 1); numbers based on this reference appear as follows:

HFA #-Geo. (George) Hull line
HFA #-Rev. Joseph Hull line
HFA #-Richard Hull line
HFA #-NH (New Hampshire) Hull line

In cases where a descendant of an HFA individual does not appear in HFA, and therefore has no HFA number, his closest ancestor's HFA number is given. Example:

Gilbert, Rachel – m. Zephaniah Hull, 1792 – CT – s/o HFA #263-Richard Hull line

◆ "Hull Family," Moody Hull, 1942 manuscript [Ref. 5P] (LDS Family History Library Microfilm #0854149, Item 3); numbers based on this reference appear as follows:

#-P – German Peter Thomas Hull/Holl/Hohl Sr. line

◆ "The Hull Family of Northumberland & Spotsylvania Counties, Virginia...," John W. Herndon, 1948 manuscript [Ref. 3R] (LDS Family History Library Microfilm #0000757); numbers based on this reference appear as follows:

#-N – Northumberland Co., VA line

Other identification codes used are listed below. No comprehensive numbering systems for these lines exist at this time.

D/G line – Dutch/German line

G/D/S line – German/Dutch/Swiss line

G/S line – German/Swiss line

UN – unidentified Hull line; indicates that this man's lineage back to his immigrant ancestor has not yet been determined

This section also includes wives of men from the 1663 immigrant Isaac Hull line as well as wives of Hulls of African ancestry.

(9) remarks/notes The placement of this category may vary from entry to entry depending on the nature of the remark or note.

said Ephraim Hull in December 1794, at Cornwall Conn.
by Elder Purviston an Itinerant Methodist Clergyman
That she has never held nor seen any record of said marriage, & does not know or believe that any such is in existence, & that she has caused diligent search to be made for such Record, but without success.
That her husband the aforesaid Ephraim Hull died at said Litchfield on the 22nd day of March 1841; that she was not married to him prior to his leaving the service aforesaid but the marriage took place previous to the 1st of January 1794 viz at the time above stated; & that she has remained a widow continuously since the death of the said Ephraim Hull
She further declares that the reason why she has not before applied for a pension is, that she was informed by those in whom she had confidence, that she was not entitled thereto unless she were married previous to the year 1790, & that it was only during the last summer that she learned to the contrary. She further declares that she knows of no living witness of her marriage Rachel Hull

Sworn & subscribed on the day & year above written
Before Charles Adams
Judge of Probate for the District of Litchfield

Part IV

Selected Children of Hulls in the American Revolution

Remember always that all of us, and you and I especially, are descended from immigrants and revolutionists.

—Franklin D. Roosevelt, Speech to Daughters of the American Revolution, April 21, 1938

It is impossible to beat the notion of liberty out of these people. It is rooted in 'em from childhood.

—General Thomas Gage, British officer

The misfortune which befalls man from his once having been a child is that his liberty was at first concealed from him, and all his life he will retain the nostalgia for a time when he was ignorant of its exigencies.

—Simone de Beauvoir

PART IV

SELECTED CHILDREN OF HULLS IN THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION

Part IV contains names and data for the 715 selected children referenced as "AIC" (Additional Information on Children) in the entries in Part I. These are followed by an alphabetical listing of the spouses of these children.

HOW TO USE THE ENTRIES IN PART IV

This list contains only:

- Children who descend from one of the three early English immigrant lines given in The Hull Family in America, 1913 (HFA), but who were omitted from that genealogy.
- Children included in HFA, but with differing and/or additional data.
- Children from the English Northumberland County, Virginia branch.
- Children from the 1663 immigrant Isaac Hull branch.
- Children from the German immigrant Peter Thomas Hull/Holl/Hohl branch.
- Children from other German or Dutch or Swiss lines.
- Children from Hulls of African ancestry.
- Children whose Hull lines are not yet identified.

Information on the identification of the fathers of these HFA and non-HFA children is contained in #5 below. Reference codes for the data in this list can be found under the father's name in Part I.

A list of the children's spouses follows this section.

The following information, when known, is listed in this order for each child of the Hull Revolutionary War veteran, patriot, or loyalist:

(1) name of child The children's names are arranged alphabetically and then in chronological order, according to birth year. Names of those with unknown birth year precede those for whom a birth year has been found. An underlined given name indicates the name by which he/she was commonly known.

(2) birth year If more than one date is found in one or more records, the alternate date is given in parentheses. Generally, the first date given is the more likely to be correct.

(3) death year See information in #2 above.

(4) name(s) of spouse(s) and marriage year(s) See information in #2 above with regard to dates. When a female spouse was previously married, her maiden name appears within parentheses, e.g., Mrs. Sophia (Wiggins) Rodgers; when known, her former husband's surname also appears. Where two surnames appear together or where a surname might be mistaken for a middle name, the surname in parentheses indicates the maiden name, e.g., Martha Jenks (Abbott) and Nancy (Rose).

(5) father's identification Most identifications are based on three existing Hull genealogies, listed below. The individual numbering systems used in these genealogies are followed in this compilation, with the addition of code letters as shown:

◆ The Hull Family in America, Col. Charles H. Weygant, 1913 [Ref. 1E] (LDS Family History Library Microfilm #0564396, Item 1); numbers based on this reference appear as follows:

HFA #-Geo. (George) Hull line
HFA #-Rev. Joseph Hull line
HFA #-Richard Hull line

In cases where a descendant of an HFA individual does not appear in HFA, and therefore has no HFA number, his closest ancestor's HFA number is given. Examples:

Hull, Lucy – Granddau. of HFA #263-Richard Hull line, Moses Hull; d/o Zephaniah Hull & Rachel Gilbert

Hull, John – Probable gt. grandson of HFA #44-Geo. Hull line, Nathaniel Hull; grandson of Daniel Hull Sr. and Susannah Bull; s/o Daniel Hull & Rebekah Kelsey

◆ "Hull Family," Moody Hull, 1942 manuscript [Ref. 5P] (LDS Family History Library Microfilm #0854149, Item 3); numbers based on this reference appear as follows:

#-P – German Peter Thomas Hull/Holl/Hohl Sr. line

◆ "The Hull Family of Northumberland & Spotsylvania Counties, Virginia...," John W. Herndon, 1948 manuscript [Ref. 3R] (LDS Family History Library Microfilm #0000757); numbers based on this reference appear as follows:

#-N – Northumberland Co., VA line

Other identification codes used are listed below. No comprehensive numbering systems for these lines exist at this time.

D/G line – Dutch/German line
G/D/S line – German/Dutch/Swiss line
G/S line – German/Swiss line
UN – unidentified Hull line; indicates that this man's lineage back to his immigrant ancestor has not yet been determined

(6) colony/state from which father served Appears in boldface. Note: In Part IV, colony/state refers to that from which the Hull father served, if a veteran, or in which he resided, if a patriot; it is not necessarily the colony/state in which his child lived.

(7) remarks/notes The placement of this category may vary from entry to entry depending on the nature of the remark or note.

Hull Women Married to Revolutionary War Veterans and Patriots

DETAIL FROM "A NEW TOUCH ON THE TIMES," 1779
[COLLECTION OF THE NEW-YORK HISTORICAL SOCIETY]

There is in every true woman's heart a spark of heavenly fire, which lies dormant in the broad daylight of prosperity, but which kindles up and beams and blazes in the dark hour of adversity.

—Washington Irving, "The Wife,"
The Sketch Book of Geoffrey Crayon, Gent.

I tremble at the thoughts of war; but of all wars, a civil one: our all is at stake...I will tell you what I have done. My only brother, I have sent to the camp with my prayers...and had I twenty sons and brothers they should go. I have retrenched every superfluous expense in my table and family; tea I have not drunk since last Christmas, nor bought a new cap or gown since your defeat at Lexington; and what I never did before, have learned to knit, and am now making stockings of American wool for my servants;...I know this—that as free, I can die but once...these are the sentiments of all my sister Americans.

—C.S., Anonymous Philadelphia woman's letter to British officer in Boston

PART V

HULL WOMEN MARRIED TO REVOLUTIONARY WAR VETERANS AND PATRIOTS

Part V contains the names and data of approximately 122 women of the Hull maiden surname, who married Revolutionary War men. Included in this list are seven women who were widows of Hull men but whose Hull husbands may or may not have also been veterans; these Hull widows have been cited since they subsequently married Revolutionary War veterans and some references incorrectly list Hull as their maiden name. In these instances, the woman's correct maiden name appears within parentheses. An alphabetical listing of the spouses of these Hull women follows the entries of the Hull women.

HOW TO USE THE ENTRIES IN PART V

The following information, when known, is listed in this order for each woman:

(1) name of woman Alphabetized by given name, then listed geographically by state/colony, and then by birth year (when known). States/colonies are listed in the following, loosely geographical, order: CT, MA, NH, RI, NY, NJ, MD, DE, PA, VA, NC, SC.

(2) birth year If more than one date is found in one or more records, the alternate date is given in parentheses. Generally, the first date given is the more likely to be correct.

(3) death year See information in #2 above.

(4) names of parents Parents' names are normally given following the death year, except when the woman is known to be an HFA descendant but has no HFA identification number; in these latter cases the parents' names appear in the identification category (#10 below).

(5) name(s) of husband(s), marriage year(s), and birth & death years of husband(s) See information in #2 above with regard to dates. Names of all who served in the Revolutionary War appear in capital letters.

(6) husband's rank(s) or patriotic service When no rank is given, it can be assumed that, in most cases, the husband served as a private.

(7) colony/state(s) from which husband served or in which he lived Appears in boldface.

(8) widow (W); and/or survivors' (S) pension application file number(s); and/or application rejected (R) file number(s); and/or bounty land warrant (BLWt) file number(s) BLWt file numbers indicate, separated by hyphens, (1) the warrant number, (2) the number of acres granted, and (3) the last two digits of the year of the act under which the warrant was awarded.

(9) residence(s) The residence listing normally applies to both the Hull woman and her spouse but, in a few isolated cases, it refers to residence(s) for the Hull woman only or for her husband only.

(10) identification Most identifications are based on three existing Hull genealogies, listed below. The individual numbering systems used in these genealogies are followed in this compilation, with the addition of code letters as shown:

◆ The Hull Family in America, Col. Charles H. Weygant, 1913 [Ref. 1E] (LDS Family History Library Microfilm #0564396, Item 1); numbers based on this reference appear as follows:

HFA #-Geo. (George) Hull line
HFA #-Rev. Joseph Hull line
HFA #-Richard Hull line

In cases where a descendant of an HFA individual does not appear in HFA, and therefore has no HFA number, her closest ancestor's HFA number is given. Example:

Hull, Eunice – D/o Samuel Hull and Sarah Hall, HFA #90-Richard Hull line

◆ "Hull Family," Moody Hull, 1942 manuscript [Ref. 5P] (LDS Family History Library Microfilm #0854149, Item 3); numbers based on this reference appear as follows:

#-P – German Peter Thomas Hull/Holl/Hohl Sr. line

◆ "The Hull Family of Northumberland & Spotsylvania Counties, Virginia...," John W. Herndon, 1948 manuscript [Ref. 3R] (LDS Family History Library Microfilm #0000757); numbers based on this reference appear as follows:

#-N – Northumberland Co., VA line

Other identification codes used are listed below. No comprehensive numbering systems for these lines exist at this time.

D/G line – Dutch/German line
G/D/S line – German/Dutch/Swiss line
UN – unidentified Hull line; indicates that this woman's lineage back to her immigrant ancestor has not yet been determined. This section also includes one woman from the 1663 immigrant Isaac Hull line.

(11) reference code(s) The bracketed number–capital letter codes following the entries are the key to the bibliographical sources found in Part VI, References. These codes may also pertain to the women's husbands.

(12) remarks/notes The placement of this category may vary from entry to entry depending on the nature of the remark or note.

FACSIMILE REVERSE OF MASSACHUSETTS TREASURY NOTE

The Revolution of the United States was the result of a mature and reflecting preference for freedom, not of a vague or ill-defined craving for independence. It contracted no alliance with the turbulent passions of anarchy, but its course was marked, on the contrary, by a love of order and law.

—Alexis de Tocqueville, Democracy in America

The historian writing, reading, engages in an act of criticism; for he is ever appraising the evidence. Who fails as critic fails also as creator. Composition, like criticism, is a continuing process—the literary record of an encounter with the evidence.

—Oscar Handlin, Truth in History

PART VI

REFERENCES

The following bibliography contains a listing of 1,191 references used in the compilation of this book; these references include both primary and secondary resources. Each source is designated by a combination number–capital letter code, corresponding to that found in brackets following each entry in Parts I, II, and V.

Many secondary sources are listed in order to supply as complete a list of references as possible for the service of each Revolutionary War veteran. Where such sources contain known errors or inaccuracies, corrections have been made and so noted. These notations of error apply solely to the material extracted for this compilation, not to other portions of the cited reference.

It is important that the reader and researcher use caution in accepting information from secondary sources, and examine original records whenever possible. For more complete information, the National Archives service, pension, and bounty land warrant applications should be consulted. However, individual testimonies contained in pension records are subject to error. A pension date, as given, can refer to the date of application, the date the pension was granted, or even to the date of the Pension Act itself. Clerical errors in transcriptions or in the recording of original documents are always possible, and can only be dealt with by using practical judgment combined with a knowledge of the situation involved.

The compiler has a direct copy or abstract of all sources listed in this bibliography. These references will eventually be placed in a major public archives or library.

The references preceded by an asterisk (*) are those which give the more reliable and documented information, although not all may be regarded as primary sources.

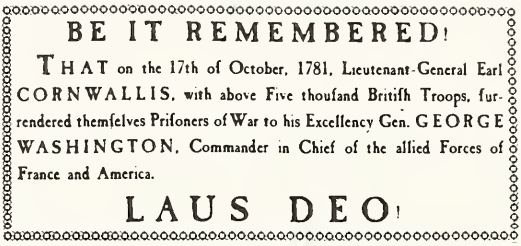
INDEPENDENCE HALL (STATE HOUSE)
PHILADELPHIA, 1774



The American Revolution was costly in lives and in property, and more costly in the terror and the fear and the violence that, as in all wars, fell so disproportionately on the innocent and the weak. Yet by comparison with other wars of comparable magnitude, before and since, the cost was not high.... In time British statesmen and historians came to look upon the American Revolution as a proud chapter in their own history, and to rejoice that Washington triumphed over George the Third.... The United States, born out of the travail of what John Adams called "this mighty Revolution," was the first colony to break away from a mother country and started a process whose end is not yet. The Revolution was, therefore, in a very real sense, the first war whose nonmilitary consequences were of significance to the rest of mankind.

—Henry Steele Commager and Richard B. Morris
The Spirit of 'Seventy-Six, The Story of the American Revolution as Told by Participants

Articles of Association
The provisions under which the Continental Congress, in 1774, agreed to form an "American Association," in whose articles they pledged themselves not to trade with Great Britain or the West Indies, nor with those engaged in slave-trade. These articles also included provisions not to use British goods or tea and not to trade with any colony which would refuse to join the Association. Committees were to be appointed in the various districts to see that these articles were strictly carried out.

Artificers
Certain artisans and mechanics who were needed to support the Continental Army.

Artillery
That branch of the army concerned with the service of mounted guns, movable or stationary, light or heavy, as distinguished from small arms.

Associators
Pre-militia units of voluntary companies which appeared in early 1775 in certain localities of Pennsylvania and which made up the Military Association, consisting of men from a single township. These companies were grouped into battalions, which included all the Associators of several neighboring townships. In the winter of 1776–1777 the Association collapsed and the Assembly replaced it with a militia system.

Battalion
Any considerable division of an army, organized to act together; a tactical unit, as of a headquarters and two or more companies. In the Continental Army, a basic tactical infantry unit composed of the field officers (normally a colonel, a lieutenant colonel, and a major), battalion staff (an adjutant, quartermaster, surgeon and surgeon's mates, and chaplain), and a number of infantry companies. During the Revolution, a full regiment was often called a battalion, and the terms regiment and battalion were used interchangeably.

Bounty Land Warrant
A grant to free land in the public domain for Revolutionary War veterans.

Brigade
A subdivision of an army composed of two or more regiments, generally temporary, and commanded by a Brigadier-General.

Cavalry
That part of the military force composed of troops serving on horseback.

Certificates
See: Depreciation Land Certificates; Depreciation Pay Certificates; Pierce's Certificates

Civil Officers and Servants
Those who conducted public business under the authority of the new state governments and displayed loyalty to the cause of the political separation from England. Offices classified as civil service included: state officials (other than governor and members of the legislature), county and town officers, Town Clerk, Selectman, Town Treasurer, Judge, Juror, Sheriff, Constable, Jailor, Surveyor of Highways, and Justice of the Peace. See also: Non-Military Patriots

Classes
In Pennsylvania, companies and battalions of militia, set up on a geographical basis with each training company divided by lots or arbitrarily assigned into eight equal Classes. Classes were also used in Maryland, but may not have been organized according to the system used in Pennsylvania.

Company
A subdivision of a regiment or battalion, composed of a captain, one or more lieutenants, an ensign, sergeants, corporals, a drummer and a fifer or two drummers, and a varying number of privates.

Continental Army
All forces in the service and pay of Congress; forces originally served around Boston in June 1775, but later encompassed all federal regiments, under the command of Gen. George Washington.

Continental Line
The infantry regiments of the Continental Army; regiments forming a line of battle in defense of the thirteen rebel colonies.

Corps
A military unit of combat forces consisting of two or more divisions and other troops.

Depreciation Land Certificates
Certificates issued to Pennsylvania troops, entitling them to purchase land in the western part of the Commonwealth because of the depreciation of their pay due to inflation. Only the Pennsylvania Line of the Continental Army, the Pennsylvania Navy, and prisoners of war qualified for these certificates.

Depreciation Pay Certificates
Certificates awarded to Continental Line soldiers still in service in 1781 to compensate them for the depreciation of the currency during the war. (Differs from the interest-bearing certificates [bonds] issued by Pennsylvania to compensate militiamen for active military service in cases in which their pay had been long delayed.) These certificates, which were both interest-bearing and negotiable, were ultimately redeemed at face value. See also: Pierce's Certificates

Division
A major administrative and tactical military unit, larger than a regiment or brigade, and smaller than a corps; the term is not generally used in reference to the Revolutionary War, but appears occasionally.

Dragoon
A mounted infantryman; often used in the sense of a cavalryman.

Ensign
3rd Lt., Army.

Exempt
A person who was freed from obligation to serve in the military, frequently upon the payment of money to a substitute. Quakers, Mennonites, Moravians, and United Brethren were placed in this category, as were underage, overage, incapacitated, and disabled men. See also: Pacifist; Substitute

Flank Company
A company of grenadiers and light infantry drawn from a regiment.

4th Sgt.
Corporal.

Infantry
Soldiers fighting on foot in close formation with bayonets and rifles; comprised the bulk of the Continental Army.

Invalid
A soldier disabled for active service.

Invalid Corps
A special regiment consisting of soldiers disabled for active service, but capable of light duty in garrisons, supply warehouses and hospitals; also operated military schools.

Invalid Pension
Pension received for wounds, injuries, or diseases contracted during service.

Legion
Mixed detachment of cavalry and infantry.

Levies
Conscriptions of troops from various militia regiments, and from the civilian sector as well; these conscripts could be called upon to serve outside their home colony/state during their entire term. See also: Short Levies

Light Dragoons
Mounted soldiers intended to be mobile troops for scouting, raiding, screening, and pursuit; variously referred to as "light horse," "horse," "cavalry," or "dragoons."

Light Infantry
Lightly armed or equipped scouts and skirmishers, to provide security for the main force.

Loyalist
One who remained loyal to the British government during the American Revolution; also called a Tory.

Matross
A soldier assisting with the loading, firing, and sponging of guns; next in rank below an artilleryman.

Military Pension
A stipend given by the government to men who participated in military service, or to their widows or dependent relatives.

Militia
Military unit generally organized into parish or town company, and county or multicounty regiment. All able-bodied males between the ages of 16 and 60 were required by law to be enrolled in the militia of their colony. Men were to serve without pay for short periods of time only, usually within their own state. If called out of state, they could serve for only three months at a time.

Minutemen
Militiamen prepared to act and fight at a moment's notice; these organizations ceased when regular armies were formed.

Muster
To enlist in service or be discharged from service.

Muster Fine
A penalty assessed for failure to assemble for inspection or service.

Muster Roll
A list of men enrolled in a military unit.

No Papers (cited in bounty-land warrant files)
The bounty-land warrants #1 through #6900 were destroyed during the War Department fire of 1800, and when the British captured and burned much of Washington in 1814.

Non-Military Patriots
The following categories qualify for non-military Patriotic Service as established by the Daughters of the American Revolution: An Associator; Collector of Provisions; Defender of fort or frontier; Delegate to a Continental Congress or to a Provincial Congress; Express Rider; Fence Viewer; Furnishing a substitute; Gunsmith who gave his services; Inspector of provisions; Member of the Boston Tea Party, or the Cherokee Expedition, or the Galvez Expedition, or the Kaskaskia Campaign; Member of a Committee made necessary by the War; Minister who made patriotic sermons; Munitions maker; Nurse; Taking an oath of allegiance; Patroller; Prisoner of War or of the Indians; Ranger; Rendering aid to the wounded; Rendering material aid; Signer of an Association Test; Signer of a petition; Surgeon; Wheelwright. [Source: DAR Patriot Index, Vol. 1, 1966. (Ref. 1B)]

Oath of Allegiance/Oath of Fidelity and Support
An affirmation requiring citizens—especially those holding positions of trust, participating in voting, and transacting business—to declare their support for the cause of independence from King George III and Great Britain and to uphold, maintain, and defend the United States of America.

Pacifist
One who believed disputes between nations should be settled peacefully and who refused to participate in military action. Members of this group included Quakers (Society of Friends), Mennonites, and other religious groups. Some pacifists contributed medical aid, food, or goods to the troops. See also: Exempt

Patriot
One who professed allegiance to the thirteen colonies and who by an act or series of actions demonstrated loyalty to the cause of American independence from England. See also: Non-Military Patriots

Pension
See: Invalid Pension; Military Pension; Service Pension

Pierce's Certificates
The register of certificates issued by John Pierce, Paymaster General and Commissioner of Army Accounts for the United States, to officers and soldiers of the Continental Army under an act of July 4, 1783, for sums due these men which remained unpaid at the end of the war. The register does not include militiamen paid by their respective states nor any men from South Carolina. Note: It is quite difficult to ascertain the identity of the Hull men who received these Pierce's Certificates, especially when so many men of the same given name appear in this listing. Therefore, the identification of the specific man who received these certificates is subject to error and bears further investigation. See also: Depreciation Pay Certificates

Platoon
A small body or squad of infantry acting as a unit, as when firing.

Privateer
One of the officers or crew of a privately owned armed trading vessel commissioned by the Continental Congress, the individual provisional government, or both, to capture enemy ships and goods.

Quartermaster
An officer charged with providing quarters, clothing, fuel, transportation, etc. for a body of troops.

Rangers
Special troops who served long enlistments on the Pennsylvania frontier, against the Indians.

Reduce
To bring down to a lower rank.

Regiment
A military unit, consisting usually of a number of battalions, commanded by a Colonel. See also: Battalion.

Service Pension
Pension received for service in the military for a designated period of time, without regard to question of incurrence of injuries or disabilities.

Short Levies
State troops and regiments generally raised for some special object, and by voluntary and temporary enlistment in new organizations. Frequently described in the records indiscriminately as militia, in the sense that they were not Continental Troops. See also: Levies

Sloop of War
A small sailing vessel, with guns mounted on only one deck.

Southern Army
Created February 27, 1776 to command the troops in the service of Congress in the Southern Department, a military administrative district comprising Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, and Georgia.

State Troops
Those troops raised at state initiative to defend primarily that state or colony. They were paid and equipped by that state, were intended for full-time service over a long period, and looked to the state government for their orders. These troops were separate from the militia.

Substitute
One who, for a consideration, served in the military in the place of a conscript; the conscript was expected to contribute toward the furnishing and equipping of that substitute. See also: Exempt

Supernumerary
An individual in excess of the number authorized for a given military unit.

Tory
A member of the loyalist party during the Revolutionary War period; one who remained loyal to the King and was opposed to the separation of the colonies from the mother country.

Train Band
Organized force of citizen soldiers.

True List
A census of males residing in a certain area who are eligible for service. Such a listing may or may not indicate that these men actually served in a militia or Revolutionary War company; applies especially to lists in Pennsylvania Archives.

REVOLUTIONARY WAR FEDERAL PENSION ACTS: A CHRONOLOGY

Note: This list abstracts only those portions of the major pension acts pertinent to the Revolutionary War.

1776 First pension law; provided for veterans who were disabled during war or incapable of earning a living.

1778 Resolution which provided for half-pay for seven years after conclusion of war to all officers who remained in Continental service until end of war. Enlisted men who served for duration were to receive $80 after war.

1780 First national pension legislation for widows or orphans of officers of Continental Army; offered half-pay for seven years to those who met requirements.

1780 1778 Act amended to provide half-pay for life to officers of Continental Army only after the war.

1782 Allowed disabled soldiers unfit for invalid corps to be discharged and receive pension of $5.00 per month.

1783 Half-pay-for-life provision for officers was changed to five years' full pay.

1785 Uniform method for providing for invalid pensioners recommended to states.

1788 Last resolutions on subject of invalid pensions passed.

1789 Act stating that invalid pensioners heretofore paid by states should be paid by U.S.

1790 Continued previous Act of 1789.

1792 Act which permitted veterans not already receiving invalid pensions from Congress to apply for them directly to Federal Government.

1794 Authorized Secretary of War to examine evidence and, if satisfactory, to place names on Pension Rolls.

1805 Act extended benefits for soldiers whose later-life disabilities could be traced to war wounds; Continental Line service.

1806 Repealed previous provision; required that cases be reported to Congress for six years from passage of Act.

1806 Allowed veterans of State Troops and militia service to be eligible for Federal invalid pensions.

1818 First general Act for granting pension for service only (for nine consecutive months' service on the Continental Line or until end of war); pension to continue for life.

1819 Secretary of War again authorized to place names on Pension Rolls, without reference to Congress.

1820 Remedial legislation requiring every would-be pensioner to submit certified schedule of his estate and income to Secretary of Wat, who could then remove those not in need of assistance.

1823 Act of restoration of pension to many whose names had been removed in 1820 legislation, but who subsequently proved need for aid.

1828 Provided for surviving veterans who had continued in service until termination of war; did not have to demonstrate need.

1832 Final act benefiting veterans of Revolutionary War. Every officer or enlisted man who had served two years in Continental Line or State Troops, volunteer or militia, was eligible for full pay for life. Included naval and marine branches also. Veterans serving less than two years, but not less than six months, were eligible for pension of less than full pay. Veterans did not have to demonstrate need. Widows and orphans entitled to balance of money due a pensioner.

1832 "Virginia Half-pay Claims" – Claims by state of Virginia granting veterans annual pay equal to that received during war, for a five-year period, or, in lieu of this, one-half the amount of such annual payments for life. Virginia defaulted on these payments and Congress undertook to fulfill obligation.

1836 First act to provide pension for widows of Revolutionary War veterans who had married prior to close of veterans' last Revolutionary War service.

1837 Pension for widows, even if remarried, if now widowed.

1838 Five-year pension for widows married to veteran prior to January 1, 1794.

1843 Continued pensions for widows.

1844 Continued pensions for widows.

1848 Continued pensions for widows.

1848 Provided life pensions for widows of veterans who were married before January 2, 1800.

1853 Removed all restrictions for date of marriage of widows.

1855 Removed all restrictions for date of marriage of widows.

1878 Widows of Revolutionary War soldiers who had served for as few as fourteen days, or were in any engagement, were declared eligible for life pensions.

It should be noted that many of the earliest pension applications were destroyed either during the War Department fire of 1800 or in 1814 when the British captured and burned much of Washington; some index volumes, however, survived.

FEDERAL BOUNTY LAND ACTS: A CHRONOLOGY

1776 Granted free land in public domain to veterans of Revolutionary War who continued to serve until close of war or when discharged by Congress; act also applied to representatives (heirs) of such veterans who were slain by enemy. Land grants were based on rank:

Major-General: 1,100 acres (1780 Act)
Brigadier-General: 850 acres
Colonel: 500 acres
Lieutenant Colonel: 450 acres
Major: 400 acres
Captain: 300 acres
Lieutenant: 200 acres
Ensign: 150 acres
Non-commissioned officers and Privates: 100 acres

1788 Authorized the issuance of bounty land warrants to those applying. Warrants were assignable and could be sold.

1803 Granted a time extension to those who had not met the deadline of the 1788 Act.

1806 Amended the time extension Act of 1803.

1855 Authorized issuance of bounty land warrants for 160 acres to soldiers, irrespective of rank, who had served for as few as fourteen days or had taken part in any battle; widows and minor children of veterans also eligible. An individual who had received previous bounty land warrants was limited in second warrant to additional acres which would total 160 acres.

1856 Extended benefits of 1855 Act to include Revolutionary War naval and marine officers, enlisted men, and their widows and minor children.

Note: Nine colonies/states also granted bounty land for military service or for personal war damages: CT, GA, MD, MA, NY, NC, PA, SC, and VA. Bounty land was not always within that respective state's borders. All of the preceding states except MA permitted the receipt of both federal and state bounty lands. The colonies/states of DE, NH, NJ, RI, and VT did not issue bounty lands.

It should also be noted that federal bounty land warrants #1 through #6900 were destroyed either during the War Department fire of 1800 or in 1814 when the British captured and burned much of Washington; some index volumes, however, survived. Most bounty land warrants were sold shortly after they were acquired; therefore the warrantee may never have lived on the land issued to him. HULL REVOLUTIONARY WAR VETERANS AND THEIR WIVES OR WIDOWS STILL LIVING AT THE TIME OF THE 1850 UNITED STATES CENSUS

Listed below are the names of three Hull Revolutionary War veterans who were still living at the time of the 1850 United States Census. This list also includes the names of one wife and sixteen widows of Hull veterans also alive at the time of this census.

The following information, when known, is listed in this order:

(1) name of veteran and/or veteran's wife/widow Appears in boldface. The entries are listed alphabetically by the given name of the Hull veteran or widow. Hull wives and widows appear with their maiden names in parentheses. In addition, when a woman was previously or subsequently married, her other husband's surname also appears, e.g., Esther (Varnell) Carr Hull.

(2) veteran's identification Appears within parentheses. See Part I, #12, on page 4 for explanation of identification numbering.

(3) residence Appears in boldface. Refers to residence, or probable residence, at the time of the 1850 U.S. Census. When residence is documented by this census, it is so noted in parentheses; other residence references may be found in the respective entries in Part I.

AN OVERVIEW OF HULL PARTICIPATION IN THE REVOLUTIONARY WAR

Hull men were present and participated in virtually every area of conflict during the American Revolution, from that day in April of 1775, when the first shots were fired at Lexington and Concord, until the final surrender of General Cornwallis at Yorktown on October 19, 1781. Hulls served at Fort Ticonderoga and Bunker Hill, at Quebec and Long Island, at White Plains and Trenton, at Monmouth and Brandywine, at Valley Forge and at Montreal, at Camden and at Guilford Courthouse, to mention just a few arenas of battle. They served as minutemen and officers, as mariners and in coastal guard units, and as fifers and drummers. They served in the Continental Army and in State Troops, in their local militia and in light dragoon units, as associators and artificers, as spies and privateers. Two Hull men were advanced to the rank of colonel and one of these rose to the position of brigadier general during the War of 1812. He later faced charges of treason and cowardice in the surrender of Detroit to the British, but was ultimately vindicated and pardoned.

Some Hulls were Quakers and pacifists who contributed their services and commodities rather than participate on the battlefields. Many others, especially the older men not fit for warfare, supported the colonies by donating their personal goods and services, such as clothing, food, and horses, and caring for prisoners. A few Hulls were imprisoned themselves and at least fifteen deserted their companies. Approximately sixteen Hull men were Tories and remained loyal to the British crown, while others signed Oaths of Allegiance, pledging fidelity and support to their respective colonies in the struggle for independence.

Some Hulls were wounded and others died in battle. Many men were recorded as being sick in camp, especially at Valley Forge—still others suffered from war disabilities and infirmities long after the fighting had ceased. In the years following the war, some Hulls claimed indigence, while others owned vast tracts of land. Approximately fifty Hull men and women were granted pensions and at least thirty-three were awarded warrants for bounty land in the unclaimed and unsettled western lands.

Women of the Hull name married men who participated in the revolution and shared in the struggle for independence by maintaining homes, farms, and shops and caring for their children during the absence of their soldier and mariner husbands. There are records of at least four Hull women who provided aid to the colonies by furnishing provisions for the troops or other public service. Five other Hull women suffered damages and material losses as a result of the war.

Hulls served from twelve of the thirteen insurgent British colonies. The vast majority of these Hull men and women were from New England, but the Middle Colonies and the South were also represented. Many could trace their origins to three early English immigrants who sailed to New England in the early 1630s. But not all of these Revolutionary War Hulls had their roots deeply planted in colonial soil, for some were recent immigrants or sons and grandsons of immigrants. Several were of German, Dutch, or Swiss descent, whose surnames were originally Holl or Hohl, although many chose to anglicize their names to Hull. A German immigrant to Pennsylvania and early Augusta County, Virginia provided five sons for the army, one of whom was an officer. Still another family in Northumberland County, Virginia, thought to have been of English origin but not directly connected to the New England branches, also numbered officers in its group. Hulls of African ancestry also served in the war; the names of twelve of these men are included in this volume.

At the time of the 1850 United States census, sixty-seven years after the war had officially ended, there remained evidence of only three Hull veterans, one wife, and sixteen widows still living.

The Hull ancestors who served in the Revolutionary War were, in the main, ordinary farmers and artisans, no different from scores of other colonial citizens who served short terms as army privates or local militiamen. From our vantage point, their motivations for participation can only be surmised, and as to their gains, this compilation is but a sketchy testimonial. Yet, whatever their motives, they played essential roles in what British statesman Edmund Burke prophetically termed "disturbances that can never be quieted."

Disturbances that can never be quieted: their repercussions were felt during Freedom Summer by descendants of colonial slaves to whom the notion of Liberty must have seemed somewhat perverse. They echoed at Pine Ridge for descendants of the "first" Americans, from whose tribal councils the Founding Fathers took inspiration, but who were to become the victims of genocide. Indeed, these disturbances have continued to ring in the minds and hearts of others—the poor, the indentured and the landless, other ethnic and religious minorities, and women—as they have framed their own revolutions. Perhaps unwittingly our forebears engendered a certain regard for universal human rights which is only now being seriously considered.

British General Thomas Gage observed, "It is impossible to beat the notion of liberty out of these people. It is rooted in 'em from childhood." This legacy, bestowed by Hulls among others, must not be lost amidst the minutiae of the historical record. This "notion of liberty" remains with us to guide us, to challenge us, and to infuse us with a passionate determination to ensure a better life for all humanity.

I must soon quit the Scene, but you may live to see our Country flourish, as it will amazingly and rapidly after the War is over. Like a Field of young Indian Corn, which long Fair weather and Sunshine had enfeebled and discolored, and which in that weak State, by a Thunder Gust, of violent Wind, Hail, and Rain, seem'd to be threaten'd with absolute Destruction; yet the Storm being past, it recovers fresh Verdure, shoots up with double Vigour, and delights the Eye, not of its Owner only, but of every observing Traveller.

—Benjamin Franklin, letter to George Washington, March 5, 1780
